Andover Norton International Ltd as Sales and Technical Manager, subsequently General Manager.

Current Details at January 2026

I started with BSA Motorcycles Ltd in Birmingham as a Technical Correspondent in the Service Dept. in Feb. 1966. When BSA and Triumph collapsed in 1974 I transferred to Andover with some other BSA colleagues to join the newly-formed Norton Triumph Europe spares and service operation. Andover Norton was created following the demise of NTE to develop an aftermarket business and after a management buy-out became the supplier of Genuine Norton Factory Parts using original factory drawings to continue the Norton spares business principally for the various models of Commando. I retired as Managing Director in 2013 and still spend much of my time with “classic” motorcycles – BSA and Norton. I am also a volunteer for the Canal & River Trust where, with some other volunteer colleagues, I repair and maintain lock paddle gear on the Kennet & Avon Canal.
